Summary of Legislation

The bill makes various changes related to mobile home property taxation and processes for collecting delinquent property tax. The bill:

- requires that notices of delinquent property taxes for mobile homes be provided in English and Spanish, and include information for where and how the owner may obtain language translation or interpretation services from the county;
- requires that notices of delinquent property taxes for mobile homes be sent by certified mail and personally delivered to the mobile home;
- requires county treasurers to sell or strike off tax liens for mobile homes starting July 1, 2026, rather than enforcing collection of delinquent taxes on mobile homes by seizing and selling the property or by commencing a court action for collection or using a collection agency;
- gives an association of mobile home owners the right of first refusal to pay delinquent property taxes and associated fees and costs on a mobile home, and requires county treasurers to notify landowners prior to a tax lien sale;
- allows owners of tax liens to apply to county treasurers to take mobile home properties to public auction after a redemption period;
- extends the redemption period for mobile home owners to three years;
- extends the redemption period for disabled mobile home owners to nine years; and
- creates requirements for when tax liens are stricken off to the county and when treasurers or assessors may declare mobile homes abandoned.

Background

Mobile Home Taxation Task Force

Senate Bill 24-183 created the Mobile Home Taxation Task Force in the Division of Housing in the Department of Local Affairs. The 17-member task force met between June and October 2024 to examine and make recommendations related to the distraint sale of mobile homes and collection of delinquent property taxes.

Local Government Expenditures

County Treasurers

The bill is expected to increase workload for county treasurers to administer changes in the bill related to notification requirements, tax liens, and other process changes. Treasurers will incur costs for providing delinquent tax notices in Spanish, and for mail and printing. Costs will vary by county depending on the number of delinquencies each year.

Effective Date

The bill takes effect upon signature of the Governor, or upon becoming law without his signature.
